MAJOR IN MANAGEMENT

GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY
School of Business
ARE YOU A LEADER?

The Management major prepares you to lead people, think strategically, and create successful organizational environments. Learn how to

- motivate human capital
- encourage teamwork
- identify competitive advantages
- build and change organizations
- negotiate effectively
- make decisions
- succeed in diverse and multicultural work environments

If you are looking to start or run your own business, begin a career in human resources, or become a consultant or supervisor, choose to major in management.
Learn to be an adaptive manager who understands today’s key business issues and can lead in tomorrow’s work environment. Mason prepares you for a managerial career in both the public and private sectors, offering a wide variety of management courses that enhance your skills.

Here is just a small sampling of careers that a degree in management can help you launch.

- Administrative Services Manager
- Arbitrator/Mediator
- Benefits and Compensation Specialist
- Contract Administrator
- Entrepreneur
- Employer Relations Specialist
- Entrepreneur
- Front-line Supervisor
- Human Resource Specialist
- Labor Relations Specialist
- Management/Business Analyst
- Management Consultant
- Project Manager
- Recruiter
- Sales Manager
- Training Specialist

“Success in management requires learning as fast as the world is changing.” - Warren Bennis
MAJOR IN MANAGEMENT

Organizations need managers that can lead people, think strategically, and create successful organizational environments.

Skills Developed:
- Leadership
- Active listening
- Problem solving
- Public speaking
- Multitasking
- Analytical thinking
- Investigative
- Organized
- Strategic
- Systemic thinking

Management Major Highlights:
- Select electives that align with one of the following career tracks (optional): Human Resource Management, Entrepreneurship, Management Consulting
- Enhance your experience by applying to the Management Honors Program
- Apply for scholarships designated for management students
- Take an internship for course credit
- Study abroad to gain global perspective
- Get involved with management/business student organizations such as Society for Human Resource Management, Mason Consulting Club, Delta Sigma Pi

BUSINESS.GMU.EDU